Sagathriller!

Some readers feast on the triumph and tragedy of a family saga. Others prefer the sheer suspense of a thriller. Enjoy both as a heroic Mountie in remote Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, narrates events bringing all that she loves – and hates - to the verge of extinction.

PRAISE

Constable Fundy Sutherland is a buff, gruff Mountie with a price on her head and a veritable ossuary of skeletons in her closet. A former JTF-2 sniper, Fundy is quietly raising daughter Skye in Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia when three events upend her careful obscurity: Skye brings home a DNA ancestry kit; the doppelgänger of Fundy’s runaway mother settles in tiny White Point; and an erratic Venezuelan ship passes through the Cabot Strait.

As local disturbances and international tensions escalate around a NATO conference in Halifax, Fundy must leave her safe lane and resurrect an implacable past. Generational love story meets geopolitical suspense in a SAGATHRILLER barreling across the North Atlantic.

Weber’s novel is populated with colorful, sharply drawn characters — especially Fundy, a no-nonsense cop who describes herself as “like Dudley Do-Right and Sergeant Preston of the Yukon, but instead of a horse, I ride a Taurus. And I wear a bra.”

A crime drama that offers a winning combination of thrills, defeats, and hard-earned victories.
